So The People May Know

ROM a business point of view there is no undertaking which gives greater promise of bringing more immediate dividends and ready cash to the Oity of Edmonton than the completion of the Jasper highway.

The wonder is that more concerted action was not taken years ago, but there is still time to get the work started so that Edmonton will benefit this year.

On his return from Vancouver two weeks ago, Mayor Blatchford announced that the British Columbia minister of public works had promised to build those portions of the road from Kamloops to the Alberta boundary in time to link up with the completed Alberta portion of the road, thus giving the prairies a direct scenie route to the Pacific. Such action could not fail to benefit the Oity of Edmonton, and this being the case it would appear that it is now up to the people of Edmonton to get busy through their representatives to have the federal and provincial governments build through to the summit this year.

the federal and provincial governments build through to the summit this year.

The proximity of such a mighty neighbor as the United Btates has not always been regarded as an advantage to this young country, but it is certainly an advantage from the standpoint of tourist traffic. Before the war the people of the United States were spending $700,000.000 yearly on travel abroad. But the was has changed this. The 'See America First' 'slogan has kept the money in circulation at home, and while Canada has benefited greatly, the tourist traffic possibilities in this country have only been scratched.

No argument is needed as to the value of that traffic from a straight dollars and cents standpoint, but there are other important benefite which must not be lost sight of. Many of the tourists are people of means and of high standing in the commercial life of the communities from which they come. Their visits to Canada and the first hand knowledge they gain of conditions and opportunities here are likely to lead to investments or to important trade connections. Many of those who come as tourists will return as settlers.

Winnipse; is alive to the situation and Mayor Ralph Webb of that city is even now heading a caravan of 40 automobiles filled with leading Winnipse to the Palms, from Winnipse to Lead to investment of the property of the community of the property of the property of the community of the property of the propert

Vancouver sent an emissary from that city through to

New Orleans.

Vancouver sent an emissary from that city through to Tia Juana, Mexico, with messages to every city along the Pacific Highway and to the governors of Washington, Oregon and Galifornia, telling the story of the longest paved tourist highway in the world. It resulted in thousands of carstaking that trail last year, and thousands of tourists going British Columbia. It brought hundreds of thousands of American dollars to Ganada.

Why can't Edmonton do something equally as enterprising and of as much advantage to this city? As a start why not press for the completion of the Jasper highway, not next year or the year after, but this year? Get the road in shape. Give the tourists a chance to come here. British Columbia is completing its portion of the transprovincial highway and is broadcasting the fact to the world. Why can't the federal and provincial governments be induced to link up Alberta's and of that highway and make Edmonton the other end of the long, long tourist trail that runs down clear through British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, and California to Mexico? It would be the most talked of highway in the world and Edmonton could not fail to benefit.

Whose Advertising Bills do you pay, Mr. Merchant?

HE Store that doesn't advertise pays the advertising bill for the one that does.

Every merchant in business pays for advertising, whether he uses it or not. If a competitor's advertising takes any business away from him, the profit he would have made on the lost sale is what his competitor's advertising cost him.

You have, perhaps, wondered how some stores can afford to spend such enormous sums for advertising. That is easy to fathom. Their competitor, who does not advertise and whose business they take, pays for their advertising.

Say the Jones family is a customer of your store. They have $60, which they Say the Jones samily is a customer of your store. They have $80, which they intend to spend with you. They read the advertisement of your competitor and are induced to spend their $80 with him instead of spending it with you. The store makes 20 per cent, or $12, on the sale. They deduct, we will say, the $1 advertising cost and have $11 profit left. The advertising has cost them nothing, they got back its cost and had $11 profit they would not have had only for their advertising.

Who paid for this advertising?

Did the advertiser pay? No. He got the cost back, and profit besides.

Did the purchaser pay? No. He paid only the regular price.

Then who did pay?

The store that did not advertise paid for his competitor's advertising. He not only paid for the other fellow's advertising, but he paid out of his cash drawer the profit his competitor made on the sale. The store that doesn't advertise pays the advertising bill for the one that does. He pays in loss of sales, profits, and increased

The store that loses business through not advertising has such high overhead and unit sale cost that it cannot possibly sell goods as cheaply as the store that ir creases its sales and reduces its cost with advertising.—Fiyer Pilot.

There are so many interesting things to do, Mariorie, in the haloyperiod of your life that I don't know where to begin enumerating them.

First, of course, are school and college and sororities, and all the fun and frolle that go with them. Next, there is reading. You will never in your whole life have such another good, free time to is nerves and tarnit your pures.

It is the time for you to acquire the reading habit, and that is the first to the control of the control of

And, fleally, I hope that you can put in some of the time receiving, for that is the greatest education TOOIOTHY DO.

PEAR MISS D.N.—I are started to one of the best and nobles men on exceptionally brillian mind. It had be to make the best and nobles to except that the is to only that he is do make the best and nobles to except that the public mind. It had be institute to such an extent that children are. Loving him as I do, I want him to be a success in every respect. How can I help him conduct this weakness. TIDIUS.

Answer:
Flatter him. Spend your time telling him how great and wonderful he is, and how much you love and admire him. Try to make him believe in himself. That is the only way to overcome to liferiority complex.
